Gen. Bradley of Opinion Forces Planned Would Be Sufficient

By Edwin B. Haakinson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—(P)—Gen. Omar Bradley told Congress today the military forces the United States is planning "are sufficient in my opinion to avert disaster for our country."

Testifying before the Senate preparedness sub-committee, the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff said bombing of American cities might be possible but "there is little real danger now of the continental United States being invaded and overrun so far as we can see."

Bradley said U. S. air defenses, "combined with the efforts of the Canadians," could avert "complete disaster" but "if a determined enemy is willing to expend the effort, some bombers will get through."

Bradley was before the committee to endorse the defense department's proposals for drafting of 18-year-olds and extending the period of draft service from 21 to 27 months.

Retaliation on Foe

He gave the committee in addition a briefing on how the services plan to meet any attack.

"The initial retaliation against any enemy by strategic bombing will be provided if the air power and the necessary army and navy support to seize and hold the bases from which to operate are in our hands the moment an emergency arises," he said.

"The closer the bases are to the enemy the easier it will be, and the less costly it will be, to provide a sustained retaliation air attack."

"Our strategy does not include a retraction of all of our military power to the continental limits of the north American continent when we are attacked."

Wants Eisenhower's Views

Some Senators are questioning the proposal to draft 18-year-olds. Senator Hunt (D-Wyo) said he felt Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's views on the need for this step should be secured before congress votes on the issue.

Under the proposal, the young men drafted would become members of some reserve unit after completing their 27 months of training and service.

Bradley hammered hard on this feature in backing the plan. He told the Senators that "next time the clouds of war may give little warning" and added:

"It used to be all right for us to wait nine months to a year before a national guard or reserve division was ready for combat duty. Now our national guard and reserve units must be ready (Please turn to page 4, Column 5)

Be Reluctant to Pay $50 a Day

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 22—(P)—Gov. Forrest Smith declined today to speculate on how the state could force the Kansas City Public Service company to pay a $50 a day fee to Vance Julian.

Julian is head of the state board of mediation. The governor ordered the company to pay him the fee for his services as the state's agent during state seizure of the company last year to prevent a strike.

Saturday the company said it would refuse to pay the $11,200 total on the advice of its attorneys. They reported the company had no legal or moral obligation to pay it.

Today the governor told his news conference he has not been notified of the company's refusal and has not received a copy of the legal opinion. He said it would be "crossing a bridge before we get to it" to talk about enforcing the order.

Julian also declined comment.

Arraign Youth In Murder Case

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 22—(P)—Seventeen year old Kenneth Scholz stood silent today when he was arraigned on a charge of murdering his 13 year old schoolmate, Billy Rodenburg.

Justice of the Peace Anthony Mackay asked the youth if he had anything to say. Scholz replied, "No."

Mackay ordered him held in the county jail without bond on the warrant signed by Sheriff Ernest Overbey.

Scholz, a high school senior, gave the alarm which led authorities Thursday night to Billy's body in a roadside ditch. The younger boy had been missing 48 hours.

Renews Plea For a Plan of Global Peace

McMahon For Fifty Billion in Furtherance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—(P)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn) today renewed his call for a $50,000,000,000 global peace plan and asked that it be linked to a Senate resolution expressing our friendship for the Russian people.

The chairman of the Senate-House atomic energy committee said the United States is "losing ground" in the battle for the minds of men. He said the Senate should immediately undertake "a ringing declaration of America's intentions."

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, McMahon outlined this three-point program to carry out his objectives:

1. That the United States spend $10,000,000,000 a year for five years for economic aid to all countries, including Russia, in exchange for (A) general acceptance of an "effective" international atomic energy control, and (B) an agreement that all countries earmark two-thirds of their present armaments spending for "constructive" purposes. McMahon first outlined this plan in a Senate speech last Feb. 2.

2. That the Senate pass a resolution "expressing friendship for the people of Russia by the people of the United States," and ask the Soviet rulers to make it known to their people.

3. That the United Nations assert its right to operate its own radio station in the Soviet Union so that the UN deliberations could be made known to the peoples behind the "Iron Curtain."

McMahon said Russian refusal to permit this would "glaringly expose" the "sham and duplicity" of Russian propaganda.

He said he would continue to support all legislation which increases the nation's armed might, while still working for a just and honorable peace.

"... unless we act boldly and immediately wrench history from its present course, war is inevitable," McMahon said.

McMahon in a prepared speech did not mention the troops-for-Europe debate. That discussion appeared to be simmering down to one question: How many?

Ask Renewal of Reciprocal Act

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson asked Congress today to renew the 17-year-old reciprocal trade act with out "crippling" changes. He said it can be a means of building "strength and unity in the free world."

First enacted in 1934, the law expires next June 12. Under it, the U. S. has made agreements with other countries for each to lower tariffs on imports. The aim is to stimulate international exchange of goods.

Acheson went before the House Ways and Means committee to ask that the law be extended for three more years.

"Our primary objective," he said, "is to build strength and unity in the free world. Our whole program must create military strength and the economic base on which military strength depends."

"It must create incentives to work to achieve and maintain that strength."

"Continued participation by the United States in the cooperative effort to improve the conditions of world trade will be recognized both at home and abroad as one clear indication that behind the shield of military power which we and our allies are creating, the techniques of growth and expansion are being maintained intact."

Acheson told the committee no large scale tariff negotiations are in prospect for the next three years, but that this period will see consolidation and adjustment in the trade field.

Pleased With US Formosa Stand

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 22—(P)—A Nationalist China spokesman today applauded the new statement of United States policy toward Formosa.

Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, deputy U. S. delegate to the United Nations, said U. S. policy regarding Formosa would be dictated by American security requirements.

"This serves further to clarify the American attitude toward the Chinese Communists," said cabinet Spokesmen Shen Chang-Chuan.

"The question of Formosa should be finalized only in a peace treaty with Japan and need not be a subject for discussion in the United Nations."

Response With Best Recipes

Share your recipes with your neighbor and join the fun of the recipe section that the Democrat-Capital is putting out again this year.

Recipes are coming in from women in Sedalia, surrounding communities and even other states, and the better cooperation you give in sending in your recipes the better the section will be. If your recipes arrived too late for last year's section, as some of them did, see that they get in early this year—February 1 is the deadline.

Please write on one side of the paper only, the name of the recipe at the top, then your name and address and then the recipe.

This recipe section is not for women alone, men are sending in, too, and stress the fact that men are better cooks than women. On this point the women will not argue—they admit that men, when they will cook, are good cooks, and they would be glad to have a few favorite recipes from the males.

The youngsters, who are just about the best of all candy makers, are asked to send in their recipes on candy or anything else they like to make.

Needed mostly are those different kinds of meat dishes and those all-in-one dishes that are such a big help to the busy housewife. And salads—something she always needs for the company dinner or for something new for the family.

So think up the foods you and your family like best and send them in right away.

Scout Leaders Training School

A Scout Training School for Scoutmasters and Scouters of Pettis county and Saline county districts was held over two week-ends in the administration building at the Missouri State Fair grounds, starting at 4:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon and ending at 4:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

This course, which is usually in seven sessions, was completed during the week-end. The Saturday session concluding at midnight. The Sunday morning session started with breakfast, the church services and continued throughout the afternoon.

Members of the training course staff were Reinhold Miller and Kent Kane, of Eldon; Jack Adams, George Kennedy and Thomas Devine, Marshall, and Henry Sutton, Harry Lambirth, Lloyd Satterwhite, Michael Wolfelt and Cline Cain.

The course gave the basic program necessary to training Scout leaders on how to run a troop.

Voluntary cook for the meeting was Mike Gokarisk, assisted by Abe Silverman. Three meals were served in the dining room of the administration building, dinner Saturday evening, breakfast and dinner Sunday.

Abe Silverman, district commissioner, stated that he was satisfied with the attendance at the meeting as practically every troop in the district had one or more representatives.

Death to 23 in An Eruption

SYDNEY, January 22—(P)—At least 23 persons are dead and 34 missing in the four-day volcanic eruption of Mount Lamington in New Guinea, a government spokesman in Port Moresby announced today.

Airplane pilots reported a 100-mile diameter volcanic cloud 40,000 feet high spewing from Lamington, which exploded last Thursday for the first time on record. Because of its four peaks, Lamington is known locally as "The Marx Brothers."

A one-inch carpet of sulphuric ash, turned into mud today by a tropical deluge, covered Port Moresby, 100 miles from the volcano.

The New Guinea administration was trying to fly in relief teams, but only one civil aviation department plane succeeded in penetrating the volcanic muck today. Landing nine miles from the volcano, on Higaturu airstrip, the plane's crew radioed fresh water was the first relief needed because all sources had been fouled by falling ash.

Sedalian on Bomber Trip

Master Sergeant McCarthy on Non-Stop Flight

By Edd Routt

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 22—(P)—Six B-36 bombers — able to lug more bombs than any other war plane — thundered more than 5,000 miles non-stop through high head winds to return home from England.

The air giants ended a training mission of more than 10,000 miles here yesterday, hampered only by "minor difficulties" — a broken windshield wiper and a broken oil line.

On schedule the half dozen big planes landed at Carswell Air Force base here, the first stop since leaving Alkenheath air base in England 30 hours and 16 minutes earlier.

Air Force officials and the 90-odd crew members had nothing but praise for the plane designed to carry an atomic bomb anywhere in the world.

"Our trip to England was a routine training mission," said Capt. Bobbie J. Cavnar of Oklahoma City, commander of the only crew reporters were allowed to interview. "The only difference was that we landed the B-36s on foreign soil for the first time."

"The big one is the best I've ever seen," said Master Sgt. T. A. McCarthy of Sedalia, Mo., who says he has flown in every kind of bomber from the early B-8 to the B-36.

Big Welcome to Luxury Liner

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(P)—New York harbor roared a tumultuous welcome to the new luxury liner Independence today as the 26,000-ton vessel sailed into her home port for the first time.

Largest American passenger ship completed in the post-war period, the Independence berthed in the Hudson river, ending an overnight trip from Boston.

Swooping planes, shrill harbor whistles and a spouting fireboat greeted the ship as she docked. Mayor Vincent L. Impellitteri boarded the vessel as it neared the Statue of Liberty. In the lounge on the promenade deck he unveiled a replica of the Declaration of Independence.

The ship, reputedly the fastest of U. S. merchant vessels and owned by the American Export Lines, will leave on her first voyage from New York on Feb. 10. After that it will sail regular trips between here and Italy.

General 'Ike' to Iceland Now

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, Jan. 22—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower winds up his German stay today at an informal meeting with the three high commissioners for Western Germany on his mission to explore Europe's defense and the Germans' part in it.

A slight cold and sore throat kept the commander of two Atlantic Alliance Armies from going through with a scheduled formal meeting with the American, British and French high commissioners this afternoon. The informal meeting was called instead tonight at the Bad Homburg home of U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy, where Eisenhower will spend the night.

The general also planned to attend an informal reception at Bad Homburg, to meet officers of the West German Republic and two World War II German generals, Hans Speidel, former chief of staff to Gen. Edwin Rommel, and Adolf Heusinger. Both are part of the West German commission negotiating with the allies on Germany's part in the projected European army.

German Communists called a demonstration in Bad Homburg, but municipal police banned it. The town is about 10 miles outside Frankfurt. An earlier planned Communist demonstration in Frankfurt also was banned by the authorities.

Gen. Eisenhower flies to Paris tomorrow. There a Communist demonstration is set for Wednesday.

On Thursday Gen. Eisenhower flies to Iceland.

Cook Says He 'Will Beat Rap'

Confessed Killer Now in Jail at Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 22—(P)—"I'll beat that rap some way," declared confessed slayer William E. Cook, Jr., as he awaited indictment tomorrow in the kidnap-slaying of the Carl Mosser family.

This determination was expressed to prisoners sharing Cook's compartment aboard the train which arrived here yesterday from Los Angeles.

A grand jury will be asked to indict him on a Lindbergh law kidnap charge; abducting the five Mossers of Atwood, Ill., with intent to do bodily harm: "To wit, murder."

Arraignment is expected Wednesday. U. S. district attorney Robert Shelton said a quick trial will be held early next month. He emphasized the Missouri desperado will stand trial, regardless of whether he pleads guilty.

Only on jury recommendation can the death penalty be imposed. Some 500 persons crowded the Rock Island railroad station and grounds yesterday at 4:20 p. m. to stare at the bad man. Seven officers were stationed at the depot and along the route to the jail to forestall possible mob action.

His reported talkativeness on board the train shifted to curt belligerence in the Oklahoma county jail.

"I'm not talking to anyone," Cook snapped to newsmen and resumed his incessant pacing.

The 23-year-old exconvict acted as though he hadn't confessed Friday in San Diego to slaying the Mossers Jan. 2 in Joplin, Mo., after kidnapping them near here Dec. 30. Also seemingly forgotten was his confession to killing Robert Dewey, 32, Seattle salesman, in southern California. Officers said he apparently did not know his confession had been released to the press.

Wonju Airstrip And Important Hill Is Taken in a Three-hour Fight

TOKYO, Jan. 22—(P)—A Temporary news blackout in Korea was lifted today upon completion of a U. N. Eighth Army shroud of a U. N. attack on the western front.

It had been ordered by the U. S. Eighth Army earlier in the day on any action west of Woju.

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, Jan. 22—(P)—Four powerful Allied columns looking for a fight thrust deep into Communist territory today but Reds on the western Korean front didn't answer the challenge.

The motorized columns were bolstered with tanks and mobile artillery. They returned to the main Allied lines late Monday afternoon after blasting several Red Patrols in minor skirmishes.

The columns ranged across a 50-mile span of the western front and pushed within less than 25 miles of Red-held Seoul. Termed officially a "reconnaissance in considerable force," the scouting patrols were charged with taking Red prisoners and obtaining information on Communist troop buildups.

"I guess they saw us coming and ran to the north to hide," an Allied intelligence officer said. "They seem to be willing to stay and fight when we send out small patrols. But when we beef one up and hunt them out with it they run away."

"Then we pull out and they filter back into their former positions."

On the central front, Allied forces retook Wonju airstrip and near-by hill 253 Monday after a three-hour fight. A Communist regiment had held the commanding hill for two days.

Situation Improved
Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway landed at the field a few hours after the fight. The Eighth army chief said the central front situation "is perfect and getting better all the time."

Wonju is the road and rail gate to the heart of South Korea. Allied forces withdrew last Tuesday after a fighting stand there of nearly three weeks but strong patrols returned last Friday. They have fought in and around the city for the past four days, usually retiring a short distance to the southeast each night.

Ridgway praised the second division for its dogged Wonju stand and lauded French troops fighting with it.

He cited specially a "magnificent bayonet attack" by the French battalion earlier this month and said he would be happy when other Eighth army troops used the (Please turn to page 4, Column 3)

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

MacArthur Advised Against Occupying Korea

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

(EDITORS NOTE—This another of Drew Pearson's columns giving hitherto unrevealed information regarding our Korean defeat and the events leading to it.)

WASHINGTON—A lot of books have been written about the historic World War II decisions made at Teheran and Yalta, but nothing either official or semiofficial has come out about the Wake Island conference last fall which preceded one of our most disastrous defeats in history.

Because that defeat has cost many American lives and the worst proportionate casualties of any recent war, and because it has given an equally serious setback to the United Nations' goal to prevent aggression, it is only proper that the public know something of what transpired at Wake Island.

The President of the United States flew half-way round the world to confer with General MacArthur, yet aside from a few conversational pleasantries reported by accompanying newsmen, nothing has been published regarding what happened on this Mid-Pacific island.

The direct talks between MacArthur and President Truman took place with no one else present, no stenographic notes taken. It is next to impossible, therefore, to report accurately what happened. Furthermore, the stenographic notes made of the more extended conversations between Truman, MacArthur, General Bradley and the other military men are still so secret that each copy is numbered.

Touchy Formosa

However, I believe it is important that the American people know what took place at Wake Island; so herewith I shall report some of the conversations recorded in these notes.

Only one clue was given in the more extended conversation as to what Truman and MacArthur talked about in their private meeting. This was when someone asked the President about Formosa, and he cut further discussion short with the curt reply:

"General MacArthur and I have discussed Formosa already and we are in complete agreement on the subject."

This appears to confirm reports that one of the chief reasons for the President's long trip was to put the quietus on MacArthur's unauthorized conversations with Chinag-Kai-Shek and curtail any more trips to Formosa to converse with the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang. These had stirred political dissension at home.

The trend of discussion in the rest of the conference was that a military victory was already in the bag. Almost more time was given to a discussion of Korea rehabilitation, therefore, than to military strategy. When it came to the latter, General MacArthur dominated the conversation.

"The North Koreans," he explained, "have about 15,000 guerrillas left in the south, but the winter will take care of most of them. The others are a beaten force. They are only fighting to save face. It goes against the grain to have to destroy them."

Home By Christmas

MacArthur assured Truman that he could "finish the job in North Korea" in a short time. According to the stenographic notes he said:

"I hope to be able to have the Eighth army back in Japan by Christmas. I may be able to send a convoy into Pyongyang immediately"

At this point, President Truman asked: "What about Chinese intervention?"

MacArthur's reply was: "They could have intervened earlier when it would have been decisive, but that time has passed. We are no longer fearful of their intervention. Although there are several hundred thousand along the Yalu river, it is not likely that they could cause us much trouble."

He also inferred that he could "take care" of the Chinese, even if they decided to cross the Yalu river.

At the same time that MacArthur described his plans for completing the conquest of Korea, he also argued against keeping American troops in Korea.

Obviously this raised the question of why march across the frozen North Korean wastes to the Yalu river if the plan was to march right back again in time to return the Eighth army to Japan by Christmas. However, no one at the Wake Island conference seemed to challenge MacArthur regarding this risky move.

Leave Quickly

MacArthur's advice on the future of Korea was: "We should turn Korea over to the Koreans as quickly as we can and get out as quickly as we can."

"Korea is a poor country," he said, "and we cannot afford to impose an occupation on them. . . . Military occupations are always failures. I want to withdraw all our troops as soon as possible."

At one point Gen. Omar Bradley asked whether MacArthur could make any troops available for Europe in the next few months.

MacArthur replied: "Yes I think a division can be made available early in 1951."

Bradley also remarked that he hoped MacArthur wouldn't have the same trouble he had with American pilots in Europe shooting up railroad bridges that were needed later for rehabilitation.

"I have had the same trouble," MacArthur replied. The stenographic notes show laughter at this point.

Only other laughter came when John Muccio, U. S. ambassador to Korea, proposed using sound trucks for propaganda purposes to sell democracy to the Korean people. This prompted the President to observe:

"I believe in sound trucks. I won two elections with them."

Highlights of the Wake Island meeting was the brilliant exposition of one man, MacArthur completely dominated the conversation, and virtually no effort was made to challenge his opinions or to warn him that the Chinese might very well intervene.

Perhaps also this was the most tragic part of the conference.

Another Phone Strike

Labor unrest in the telephone industry is so serious that another strike may shut down the nation's telephones at any time. This is the warning of a Senate Labor committee that has spent the past six months investigating telephone labor conditions.

In a blistering report, not yet made public, the subcommittee charges that "bad labor-management relations exist in the Bell Telephone system. These relations appear to be getting worse. Strikes and threats of strikes are becoming more frequent."

"The Bell system," says the Senate Labor subcommittee, "is an integrated, national network of communications vital to the health, wealth and security of this nation. It is the obligation and responsibility of both management and labor to recognize under law one another's legitimate rights. . . . And above all, to recognize that neither party has any right to engage in acts or practices which jeopardize the public health, wealth, safety or interest."

The report warns both management and labor to "use the utmost restraint . . . in the exercise of their respective economic powers."

Of management, the report declares: "The Bell system, the wealthiest and largest employer in this nation, must recognize that it has an obligation under the law to allow its employees to select labor organizations of their own choosing. . . . It is not important that the unions grow to become the kind of labor organizations that Bell system management would like them to be. It is important that those unions are independent of the system and its influence."

Of labor, the report adds: "The unions must realize the tremendous power they can wield for good or evil. As they grow in strength and power, they must assume correspondingly greater responsibilities to the employees they represent, and to the nation they serve."

Rice Bank For Asia

A freshman congressman from Mississippi has a plan that may save two major areas from falling to the communists. He is Frank Smith, a young editor with an inquiring mind, who proposes creating a "rice bank" for use in Asia.

Smith dug up the plan while studying ways to improve the livelihood of Mississippi Delta farmers. Many of the Delta farmers favored growing rice, but, as Smith discovered, after poking through the long halls in the Department of Agriculture, there is a limit on rice production and the department does not want to lift it.

However, realizing that rice is the staple food of the Far East, the congressman contacted the State Department and ECA. Of them he asked the question: "Wouldn't it be of strategic value to have an international pool of rice for use in Asiatic areas we are trying to save from communism?"

It happens that Japan and India depend on Indo-China and Burma for rice, and without their aid famine would sweep both the first-named countries. However, Indo-China and Burma appear next on the Chinese Communist invasion list; so the State Department was delighted with Congressman Smith's proposal that Mississippi and Louisiana grow more rice.

Our Iron Ore is Running Out

Not long ago the U. S. Steel Corporation announced it is building a huge new integrated steel plant on the banks of the Delaware river near Trenton, N. J.

Then National Steel Corporation signified intent to erect a mill on the Delaware farther south.

Now the government has disclosed its approval of a $250 million steel plant in the New London, Conn., area. The mill, also an integrated one, is designed to satisfy New England's long clamor for a complete steel works.

All these prospective plants are, of course, close to big markets. But, being near the Atlantic shore, they're also more vulnerable to enemy air attack. The prime reason they're being placed at tidewater edge is the blunt fact that in the years ahead much of our high-grade iron ore will have to come via water from Labrador and Venezuela. This is one of the facts of life in the new decade.

A 'Pretty Nice Face, Once' Can Be Your Lifelong Friend

"Well," said the rather plump and pleasant-looking woman staring ruefully in a beauty shop mirror, "it was a pretty nice face once."

"But I guess it served its purpose. It gave me a good time when I was growing up. It got me a husband—the one I wanted."

"I guess it did enough for me, before it got to looking like this."

That's about as good a philosophy as any for the woman whose mirror is no longer reassuring. So the face that was once young and fresh has lost some of its color and firmness, and a few wrinkles have moved in. A tragic? No, not if you stop to consider what it did for you while it was young.

It carried you through the period when you hadn't much else to depend on but looks, didn't it? It was a pretty good friend when you needed it most.

Now, perhaps, you can't count on it for much any more—not just by itself, that is.

LET IT RELAX

But it will still be your friend, if you'll help it out. Let it relax instead of tightening it up in annoyance, envy, impatience.

See to it that it expresses you at your best—a gay, warm-hearted, happy, out-going interested you.

So don't waste any time worrying because that face of yours is no longer a girl's face, pretty enough to get you by without much effort on your part.

Give it a little help and it will still be your friend. But don't forget that now what you are like is more important than what your face is like.

And don't sigh over it. Remember it helped you get a lot of things you wanted. You ought to be able to hold on to them without too much dependence on that face of yours.

Horizontal Position Is Best To Beat the Common Cold

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

It looks as though the common cold had won again. There seems to be just about as many sniffing, sneezing people around this year as last—or the year before. And it is particularly irritating that this ordinary and common ailment should go merrily on while less common though more serious disorders have been conquered by new and sometimes complicated medical and surgical discoveries.

There is a lot of wishful thinking about colds. Everybody has a theory and nearly everybody has a pet remedy. Nearly every year at least one miracle cure is announced with great excitement. But colds keep right on making hundreds of thousands miserable and causing millions of dollars of loss to pay envelopes and production.

The picture isn't entirely dark. It is known that most if not all 'colds' are caused by tiny living organisms called viruses. These viruses float around in the air for a while whenever they are sneezed or coughed out by someone with a cold.

This undoubtedly explains why mingling in crowds increases the chances of catching cold. It also explains why explorers, mountaineers, and others who are subject to all kinds of trying conditions—wet feet and a lot more—get few colds unless they come in contact with other people.

At least these facts show that covering the mouth when coughing or sneezing will help others, and staying away from people with colds will lessen the chances of catching them.

Countless Remedies

There must be thousands of remedies for colds. Last year the antihistamines took first place. Some people seemed to benefit from these and others did not. In those who were helped the good results were apparently caused by relieving the sensitivity or allergy in the nose rather than because the drugs attacked the virus causing the trouble. But several studies seem to show that the antihistamines are not much help and some people get unpleasant side-effects from them.

Successful prevention of colds will probably come sometime and a really good treatment even sooner. In the meanwhile a person coming down with a cold would shorten the duration and feel better faster if he went to bed at once after taking a hot bath and perhaps some aspirin, and stayed horizontal for a couple days. My guess is not many people try it.

DAUL TWING tore down Broadway like a drunken man. He bumped into people, not seeming to realize it, dodged in front of moving cars deaf to the squealing brakes, the cursing drivers. He just kept going.

Not that he felt that he was being pursued—he was blindly, dazedly pursuing. He wanted to find May Jenkins and little Judy. He wanted them desperately. He had to find them tonight! This was their last chance—their only chance—this last night.

The very impossibility of finding someone in the vastness of New York spurred him on faster and faster because he didn't want to admit to himself that he was chasing a phantom—that there was neither rhyme nor reason to his fantastic dash down the crowded streets of the world's most populous city.

He didn't want to face the fact that the Dolphin would sail in the morning without them. By the time he had gone ten blocks the accumulation of worry, disappointment, the prodigious amount of walking he had done through the long day, and the fact that he had eaten nothing since early morning began to tell on him.

He paused at 96th Street, panting, perspiring, dragged down by a sudden overpowering weariness.

When Paul's legs stopped, his mind started to function on saner, sounder planes. He could conceive of no reason why May had failed to keep their rendezvous other than arrest. There was a newsstand at the opposite corner. He went to it and scanned the headlines without buying a paper. He knew that if what he dreaded were true, the front pages would be shouting the news.

Nothing. Then he wondered if it had been too recent to have made the final edition. He forgot his weariness and hurried over to Amsterdam Avenue.

He knew from many previous stays in New York that there he would find an endless succession of bar-and-grill establishments. Many of them kept a radio going all the time.

DAUL went from one to another, just opening the door and thrusting his head in until he found one with a radio. He went in this one and slumped down at the first table. The place was crowded and busy.

No one paid any attention to him. He saw an empty spot at the bar so he pulled himself up and shouldered his way into the vacant place. The bartender poured the straight whiskey he called for. The hot glow of the liquor in his empty stomach revived him, steadied his jumping nerves.

A comedy team was performing on the radio and it was apparently a favorite of the patrons. Crowded as the place was, most of them were listening with quiet grinning attention. From time to time there was a chorus of hearty laughter. The laughter irritated Paul.

He looked at his watch. At 7— in 15 minutes—there should be a news program. He signaled to the bartender and ordered another drink.

The broadcast started off with international news. Paul couldn't pay attention to it. The man at his right turned to him and voiced his views on how the State Department should handle Russia. Paul nodded without knowing what the man had said.

Then it came. Involuntarily Paul held up his hand for the man at his side to be quiet.

"The latest development in the Twing Case," the metallic voice intoned, "took place less than one hour ago here in New York City." Paul sucked in his breath and grinned the edge of the bar.

The man next to him turned and said "If you ask me . . ."

"SHUT UP!" Paul exploded.

"ATTENTION has been focused here since early this morning," the radio voice continued, "when the child, Judy Twing, accompanied by a woman, was recognized in a southbound subway. This evening Federal Agents uncovered the luggage and the car of the woman and child at a rooming house on West 81st Street."

"Mrs. Kate Barron, proprietor of the rooming house, had read the account of what had taken place in the subway. The description of the woman and the child, who is reported dressed as a boy, caused her to suspect a Mrs. May Jenkins of Wheeling, W. Va., who had come to her establishment last night, accompanied by a small boy."

"Mrs. Barron called the police this afternoon. Two detectives, from a special squad detailed to run down the many leads that have been pouring in all day, answered the summons."

"They saw and spoke to Mrs. Jenkins in her room and they saw the child, but did not press the investigation when they noted that the boy with her had brown eyes. Judy Twing's eyes are blue."

"Later in the day Mrs. Barron learned that the boy the detectives had seen was the son of another roomer in her house, not the one Mrs. Jenkins claimed to be her son. Agents of the FBI responded to Mrs. Barron's second call."

"The woman and child were gone. Fingerprints in the room and in the car, which was left in front of the building, talked with those of Judy Twing. Inquiries concerning May Jenkins and the car which bears West Virginia plates, are being made."

"In the meantime, the authorities in charge of the case predict that an arrest will be made within a few hours."

Caution is Evident As to Any Drastic Action on China

branding Red China an aggressor. Britain herself is uncomfortable and cautious. Indonesia says giving China this label would lessen the chances of averting world war. Huge India, across which falls the shadow of the Chinese dragon, is thumbs down on charging China with aggression and Prime Minister Nehru wants to give Peiping another chance to talk cease-fire.

Behind this atmosphere probably is the reluctant recognition by Asia that China doesn't want a cease-fire in Korea, in fact that she doesn't want general peace at this juncture. The reason is clear enough. She is satisfied that her present tactics are profitable and this viewpoint certainly will be strengthened by the appeasement complex.

Took Tibet Without a Shot
An Associated Press dispatch from Tibet provides an amazing illustration of how Peiping—and consequently Moscow—are winning through their psychological warfare backed by actual force. A Tibetan official stated that the Reds took over this little Himalayan state without firing a shot.

"They used skyrockets," said this official, "and other fireworks to turn night into day and to permit Tibetan officers and troops to see fear on each others' faces. In a few hours all the officers, including the commanding general, fled; but they were captured by patrols."

The Chinese then laid themselves out to give the captured officers kind treatment with the result that the officers sent word to the capital that it was impossible to defeat the Chinese. This resulted in surrender.

Of course that sort of psychological trick couldn't be worked on the western world. And yet China's curt rejection of the UN cease fire proposal is actually a piece off the same cloth. The immediate reaction of the Asiatic countries has been similar to that of Tibet—one of fear and an apparent inclination to take refuge in appeasement.

The further we proceed with this unprecedented war of the "isms" the clearer it becomes that the attitude of the western world must be determined by some united action in the United Nations. Either the democracies stand together to meet this crisis, or they will have to work out their own salvations individually.

Any serious split among the non-Communist nations will give Moscow the advantage of being able to play the old "divide and rule" game. And at this writing the solidarity of the democracies is in great doubt.

Observers generally expect the UN to adopt America's resolution condemning China as an aggressor. Whether they will follow

Movie Makers Swamp Australia

SYDNEY —(P)— Ten different studios are planning to make full-length feature films in Australia, and Australians hope that a permanent movie industry will be established here in the next few years.

The soldiers found a Korean woman with four babies of her own who offered to nurse their charge but didn't want to increase her brood to five.

They kept on looking. Finally they found four Korean women who "all tried to feed the baby at once," said Morrison.

The women told Moore and Morrison through an interpreter, "American soldiers are thoughtful and kind to children. Even a hardboiled soldier has time to stop during the fighting and care for a small helpless baby."

The two GI "mothers" turned the youngster over to the four Korean women who took care of the diaper department and took the baby with them. "Mothers" Moore and Morrison returned to their infantry outfit.

Deep Thrust by Four Allied Columns in Territory of Reds

cold steel with such deadly results.

An Eighth army communique Monday night said the second's stand at Wonju starting January 8 apparently had checked a planned Communist offensive through the mountain passes south of Wonju. But it added:

"Late reports indicate the Communists are again building up strength in the Wonju area for another offensive."

Along the western front, where the Reds also were reported massing troops for a new drive, the four Allied combat patrols met virtually no opposition.

One column drove straight through Osan and prowled north of the town. Osan, 28 air miles south of Seoul, is the place where the first American soldier of the Korean war was killed. There the green U. S. 24th division began its bitter retreat last summer down the Korean peninsula.

A second column ranged through Kumyangsang, 10 miles northeast of Osan. A third unit drove north between these two columns.

The fourth column ran into an hour long fire-fight shortly after noon Monday (10 p. m. EST, Sunday) near Icheon, along the lateral road from Kumyangsang to Wonju.

This Allied prowl force left 22 Communist dead, sprawled in the snow in zero weather.

Then the U. S. Eighth army clamped a security blackout on all news stories mentioning action on the western front. It banned reporting of any movement after noon Monday in the area west of Yojiu, a town 13 miles west of Wonju.

The ban covered the entire area where the four strong Allied motorized columns were operating. There was no explanation. A memorandum said the order would remain in effect until further notice. Such a ban usually covers important troop movements.

For days field dispatches have told of a Red buildup in the western Korean area southeast of Seoul.

An accident routed Allied troops in one forward village.

An exploding gasoline stove ignited eight ammunition-loaded trailers Monday and within minutes destroyed half of the Korean town.

United Nations troops fled their billets. Some didn't even have time to put on heavy clothing needed in the zero cold.

No serious injuries were reported. Most of the exploding ammunition was white phosphorous, which burns at intense heat. Fire spread along the thatched roofs of huts. Abandoned machine gun and rifle shells cracked. An engineer detachment lost trucks and other rolling stock in the fire.

South African warplanes struck hard Monday at the Icheon area where the Reds continued their brisk fighting of Saturday and Sunday. Other Allied warplanes hit both the east and west coasts.

Fire Spreads To Ammunition

By Tom Bradshaw

AN ADVANCED COMMAND POST, KOREA, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A fire started by an exploding gasoline stove spread to mortar ammunition today and, in a brief few moments, half a Korean town was burning.

Allied troops billeted in the town fled from their quarters. Some were partly undressed. Their sleeping bags and clothes went up in smoke.

The mortar ammunition, on eight truck trailers, was mostly white phosphorous. It set fire to thatched roofs and burst among soldiers fleeing to safety.

Machinegun and rifle ammunition abandoned in the houses exploded intermittently to add to the terror of the early morning outbreak.

However, no one was hurt seriously. Some military equipment was lost.

That, he said, means that the guard and reserve units must be composed of fully trained men.

"If this country is to survive," Bradley went on, "our citizens will have to face the hard fact that the conditions under which we labor may persist for 10, 15 or 20 years and that our only sensible military answer to these questions is to have our citizens adequately prepared and organized to take up our defense."

"The plan outlined in this legislation provides a system that would require nearly every man to serve in our forces, first on full-time active duty, later as a member of a national guard or reserve organization for a period of years."

This is the cold and unalterable fact. The sooner we face it, the better our chance for survival."

Breaks Windows, Robs And Flees

LIBERTY, Neb., Jan. 22.—(AP)—A bold burglar armed with a rifle stalked through Liberty early today kicking in store windows and raiding cash registers while frightened townpeople of this town of 350 peeked out their darkened windows.

After his brief "oray the burglar left. Presumably he was the same person who nearly crashed into Gage county Sheriff E. G. (Ned) Maxwell, who was en route to Liberty, then outran the sheriff in a 90-mile-per hour chase over gravelled county roads.

Apparently unconcerned over the noise he was making, the rifle toting bandit kicked in the windows at a cafe, a retail store and an implement firm. He took a shotgun, then tossed the cash register onto the sidewalk breaking it open. He got $60 from this cash register.

Townpeople were awakened by the armed marauder's progress through the town.

Maxwell said as he sped toward Liberty from Beatrice, seat of this southeast Nebraska county, a car ran through a stop sign and nearly hit him. He turned and gave chase at speeds up to 90 miles per hour, but lost the car when it turned onto a main highway.

Pettis County Farm and Home News

Soils-Crops Meeting to be On February 9

Increasing of Farm Income to Be Chief Topic

"How far income in Pettis County can be increased will be discussed at the Annual Soils and Crops conference to be held in Sedalia Friday, February 9th," according to the County Extension office.

The central theme for discussion at the conference will be pasture improvement. The income in the county can be increased greatly by a pasture improving program, says the County Extension agent. More than 100,000 acres of land now being used for pasture only can economically be improved to such an extent as to increase the feed produced by two to three times.

Some Pettis County farmers have started on such a program and have found it profitable. Liming and fertilizing based on soil needs as determined by tests and seeding to grass such as Bromes, Orchard grass, Fescue or Timothy and to the wonder perennial pasture legume Ladino clover. This will get results far beyond what many believe possible.

Profit Treating Land

Farmers are making a profit from treating this land. It costs about $30,000 an acre to treat this land. The County P. M. A. will pay about half this cost.

This $30,000 is soon paid back. One acre of such land will furnish more grass in April than one steer will eat and in May and June all that 1 1/2 steers will eat. Then in September it will do likewise for more than 1 steer and in October and November furnish nearly enough pasture for a street. This means a production without any other feed. A production of 300 to 350 pounds of beef per acre per year. At this figure the returns per acre range from $60 to $120 per acre depending upon quality, management and value of beef.

Even if the return is only $60 which is at least twice that many acres return per year the extra returns pay the cost of this operation. Even if it costs $40 per acre as it may in some cases for 3 or 4 tons of lime, 900 to 1000 pounds of raw rock phosphate, potash, a starter fertilizer and 20 pounds of grass and legume seed, still the investment is a good one. It must be remembered that such a treatment will provide the needs for 6, 8 to 10 years, and then the soil will be higher in lime and phosphate than it is before treating. Using very conservative figures you will have about 6 years extra return that cost you nothing. About similar returns can be secured by the dairyman or the sheep owner.

How to get this job done, what grass to use, how to treat the soil, when to treat will all be discussed at the Soils and Crops conference February 9th. Also late data on varieties of oats, wheat, barley and soybeans will be presented. This conference is open to all Pettis County farmers.

New Australian Settlement Planned

SYDNEY—(P)—A plan to settle a large plateau in the Northern Kimberly district of Australia is under study by the Australian National Development Ministry.

An explorer recently made a six-months survey of the area and suggested in a report that the plateau was suitable for settlement. The plateau covers 40,000 square miles and is described as suitable for white men, who have hitherto hesitated to undertake any manual labor in the tropical or sub-tropical northern part of the continent.

The area rises from 1,000 to 2,000 feet above sea level, has three rivers and a rainfall of from 25 to 35 inches a year. It is inhabited by a few aborigines. Tobacco, peanuts and fruits can be grown there.

Balanced Farm Body Meeting Here

Records, Taxes and Other Matters up In Discussion

About 20 members of the 1951 Balanced Farming association met Monday afternoon January 15th to discuss farm records, income tax returns and social security for agriculture workers. C. R. (Cliff) Meeker, extension economist from the University of Missouri, College of Agriculture, was introduced by Associate County Agent Merle Vaughan and led the discussion.

"Farm records" said Mr. Meeker, "are necessary to keep you informed regarding your farm business and so you can make accurate income tax returns." A small circular entitled, "Farmers 1950 income tax" was distributed among the folks attending for use during the meeting. The circular costs 5 cents and will be available soon at the extension office.

Use of Schedule D There was considerable discussion of the use of Schedule D on the 1940 income tax return. This schedule is for the reporting of sales of capital assets held for more than 6 months and on which only one half of the profits are taxable. Under certain conditions this applies to the sale of breeding stock raised on the farm.

These conditions are (1) you must have owned the animals for more than 6 months, (2) the sale must have either reduced the size of the herd or made room for replacements of a different breed or quality of the offspring and (3) the animals must have been in use for dairy, breeding or work purposes at the time of sale.

Taxpayers who use this section this year must be prepared (1) to demonstrate that the proposed changes in the breed or quality of their herds were actually made and (2) to prove that the sale was a departure from their normal practice.

Mr. Meeker emphasized the value of the inventory pages in the record book even if folks were reporting on the cash basis, with complete inventories a farmer can figure his net worth at any time. Also accurate depreciation schedules can be kept from these inventories for the income tax returns.

A feature of this loose leaf record book that is made available to association members free of charge is that the receipts and expenditure sheets can be replaced each year. (A new filler costs 30 cents). The inventory pages have space for 5 years inventories so transfer on them will only need to be made every 5 years.

Meeker also discussed the recent change in the Social Security law regarding farm labor. It is now mandatory for regular farm labor on the farm or in the home to be included. Further information can be obtained at the Social Security office.

Mystery Farm Pictures in Central Missouri---

Is this your farm?

Most of the readers of the Democrat-Capital have been following this series of the weekly Mystery Farm Pictures with considerable interest.

The pictures that appear in this space in Monday's Democrat and Tuesday morning's Capital were taken sometime ago by an aerial photographer. The pictures were not shot with the knowledge of whose farm it was. It was a random job; a picture here and a picture there.

The Mystery Farm picture in the Democrat on Monday, January 8, and the Capital of the following morning showed the farm of Frank Summers, seven miles northeast of Sedalia and a half mile south of Beaman.

It comprises 170 acres and had been operated by the Summers family for a period of thirty years. The residential home comprises thirteen rooms and is surrounded by numerous barns including a dairy barn that is very commodious and stock feeding is conducted on the place with thirty dairy cows, Jerseys and Guernseys.

Mr. Summers' sons, Earl and C. W. Summers, give the dairying the farming activities their attention. Wheat, oats and lespedeza provide feed for the stock and there is a good range of pasture.

Aside from Mr. and Mrs. Summers and the two sons named are three other brothers, Frank Joe Summers, employed by the Brown Automotive works in Sedalia; Eugene Summers, with the REA, in Sedalia, and Alfred Summers with the Missouri Public Service Utility at Clinton, Mo.

Rolfe Looks To Red Sox

Feels The Loss of Hottelmann Will Weaken Tigers

(This is one of a series of stories written by the major league managers for the Associated Press under their own bylines telling how their team shapes up for 1951 and sizing up the other clubs.)

Detroit Tigers by Red Rolfe

DETROIT, Jan. 22—(P)—As matters stand today, my club is noticeably weaker than it was a year ago.

This is principally due to the loss of Art Hottelmann to army. You will remember that he won 19 games for us in 1950. He will be difficult to replace. Our only pitching addition to date has been the signing of lefthander Earl Johnson who was released by the Boston Red Sox last season. I have hopes he will help us in the relief department.

Our main weakness last season was lack of speed. Since there have been no changes in personnel to date this same weakness will be with us for another year. We also could use another long ball hitter, particularly at first base which is traditionally a power position.

To again be a pennant contender we must find a pitching replacement for Hottelmann. We must get better catching and we must find increased power to offset our lack of speed.

Unfortunately our rookie crop this season will be a poor one. Our farm system seems to be one year away from producing necessary help.

I look for improved catching from a still developing Joe Ginsberg, who seems about ready to take over a regular catching assignment.

The Red Sox are definitely my winter choice as the team to beat in the 1951 pennant race. The off season trade which brought them pitchers Bill Wright and Ray Scarborough will strengthen them in the one position where they needed help. I look for the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians to be their nearest competitors.

The rest of the league should be stronger, making the overall league race closer than it has been in years. Philadelphia, under Jimmy Dykes, figures to show improvement.

Bucky Harris has finally gathered a pitching staff which will make his Washington ball club a formidable one.

Chicago seems to me to be the uncertain club in the league at this writing.

Further trades and raids from Uncle Sam may change the picture before the start of the 1951 campaign.

Teen-age Blues Held Celebration

The Teen-age Blues held their annual celebration at Maccabee hall Friday night. The speaker for the evening was Bill Watson, business manager and regular second baseman for the Blues. His subject was "The Rise and Development of the Teen-age Blues."

He spoke instead of "Davy" Jones, who was scheduled for the evening but was unable to attend because of illness.

The party was attended by players, coaches and their guests. Dancing and refreshments comprised the evening's entertainment.

Players attending were Bill Watson, Chuck Vaughn, Joe Fisher, Wiley Walter, Bob Lane, Joe Walker, C. A. Smith, Donnie Higgins, Eldon Lees, Bruce Wall, John Higgins, Sonny Thomas and the bat boy Johnny Burns.

Coaches in attendance were "Doc" Snively, Ets Lane and "Slick" Thomas.

Mail Carrier on Mission Abroad

LONDON, Jan. 22—(P)—Lincoln Kilby wants the folks back in Vandalia, Mo., to know that he is behaving.

The Missouri rural mail carrier, here to see and talk to the "little people" of Britain, went to church twice on Sunday.

"I went to the Church of England in the morning and my own Church of Christ tonight," he reported, emphasizing that he wanted the folks back in Vandalia to know about it.

The 38-year-old Kilby is taking the publicity in stride. He has been front page news. One newspaper called him "Vandalia's first ambassador to Britain."

Another termed him "Little Mr. U. S. A."

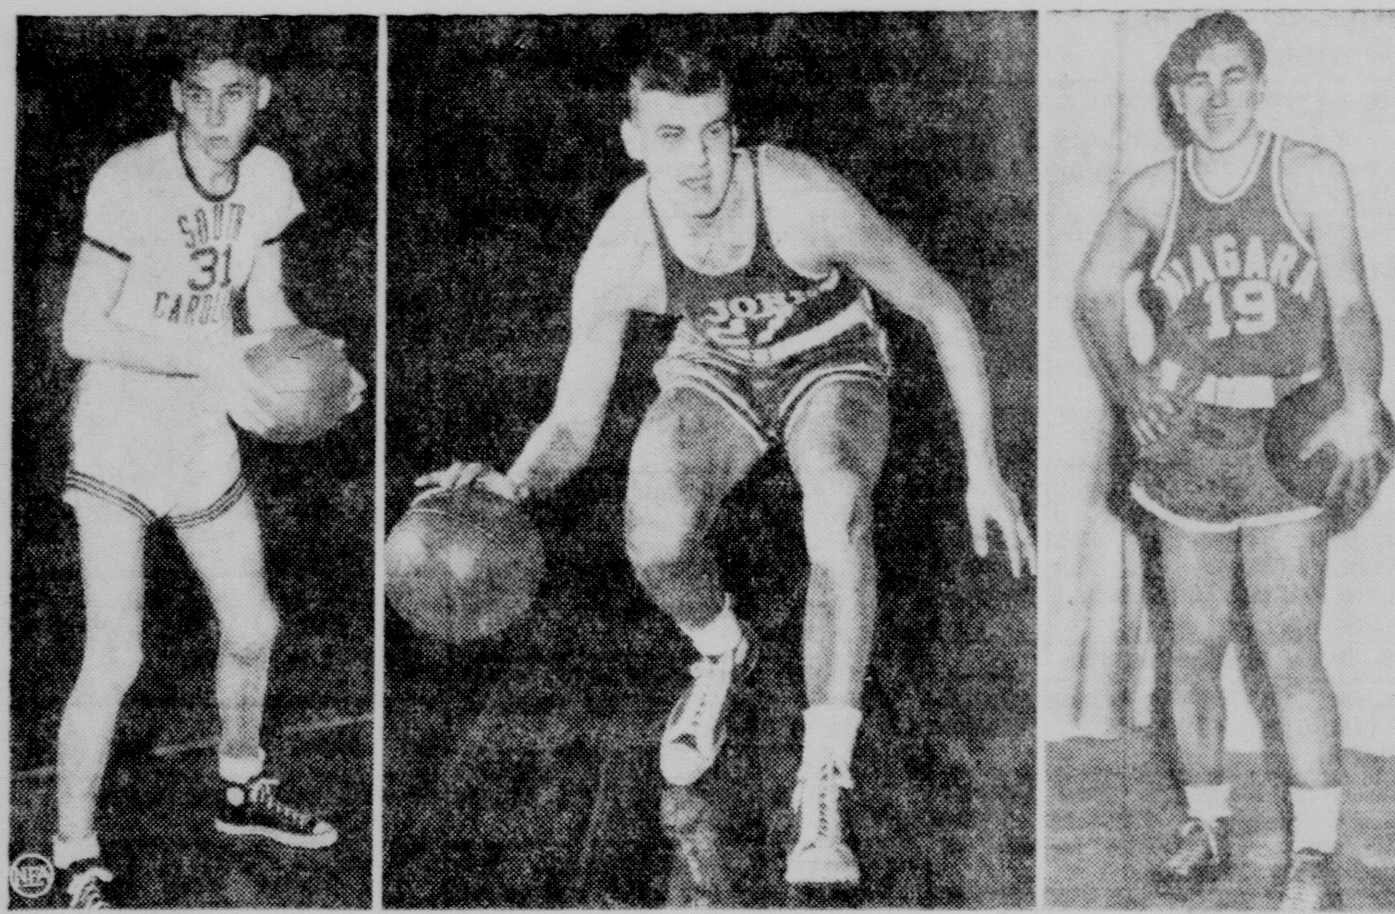

Vandalians had chipped in to send Kilby here on a 60-day tour of Britain for a down-to-earth report on the country.

Today Kilby planned to leave London "to get some grass under my feet and to talk to the people out where the cows are."

"I don't know how long it will take to get the feel of the people," he commented, "but my sponsors have given me 60 days."

His first swing will take him through England, Scotland and Wales.

Son of Knute Rockne Shot

WICHITA, Kas., Jan. 22—(P)—William D. Rockne, son of the famous Notre Dame football coach Knute Rockne, was reported in critical condition today from pistol wounds.

Officers said he was shot after he forced entry into a Wichita home Saturday night.

Sheriff Ty Lockett said Rockne, 35, entered the home of Joe Novacek, a used car dealer, and was shot twice by Novacek.

Rockne, whose noted father was killed in 1931 in an airplane crash in Kansas, underwent an emergency operation yesterday.

His mother arrived here last night from South Bend, Ind.

William Rockne was a patient in the state mental hospital at Elgin, Ill., from 1936 through 1939 and received occasional treatment after that time. Friends of the family said burns suffered at the age of five and a delayed start in school apparently affected him mentally.

The sheriff said Rockne twice tried to enter Novacek's home and the second time succeeded in getting in. The officer quoted Novacek as saying he struck Rockne with a board and ordered him to remain until police arrived.

Instead Rockne fled and Novacek fired at him three times with a pistol, the sheriff reported.

Officers said Rockne had been drinking.

No charges have been filed.

Rockne recently had been working as a truck driver for the Salvation Army. He was not questioned in detail at the hospital because of his serious condition.

Mrs. Rockne told reporters at South Bend she had not seen her son for two years.

Babe Zaharias Wins Tourney

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 22—(P)—Sharpshooting Babe Zaharias is tickled pink with the 288 which won her the Tampa Women's Open golf championship yesterday and set a world's record for women golfers.

Now she's ready to go and beat it again.

"I've been trying for a long time to beat that record and now I'm going to try to make it even lower," Mrs. Zaharias said after taking home first prize money of $1,000 in the $3,500 event.

It clipped three strokes off the 291 which Louise Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., set at Landover, Md., in 1949, and which The Babe equaled at Wichita last October. It also eclipsed the former Tamgins Open record of 295, held jointly by Patty Berg and Polly Riley.

Miss Suggs did all right herself, winding up with a five under par 295 that would have given her a tie for first last year. This time it was good for only second money of $750.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(P)—Almost overlooked among the football rules committee's decisions last week was the reduction of the penalty for an illegal shift from 15 to 5 yards. . . . It probably doesn't concern the average present day fan a bit. . . . But historically, that change marks the end of what probably was the only rule ever aimed directly at one coach and one team. . . .

Rules chairman Fritz Crisler dropped a hint when he said the "condition" for which this rule was passed "no longer exists." It was directed at shifts involving entire teams. Now there's nothing but one man involved in what might be illegal shifts and officials have hesitated to inflict the severe penalty.

Rock vs. The Rest

Go back some 30 years to the time when Knute Rockne and his Notre Dame teams were beginning to sweep the headlines and you'll find rival coaches protesting bitterly against the "Notre Dame shift." . . . The Irish backs and sometimes the entire line would shift from their starting formation into more advantageous positions and be off. It had the characteristics of the "momentum" play, frowned upon since the days of the guards back to stop. . . . Jesse Harper introduced this style at Notre Dame.

Rockne brought it to the peak of perfection in the 1920's and such influential gents as Fielding Yost and Bob Zuppke led the opposition. . . . They forced a rule through requiring players to come to a full stop after a shift, but that didn't stop Notre Dame.

Rockne taught his backs to stop their feet, complying with the rule, while their bodies still swayed. . . . Eventually the rule was made to call for a complete one-second stop and the Notre Dame shift was shorn of its elements of power and surprise.

Monday Matinee Dave Bennerman, the fullback who was discharged from the naval academy because of his marriage, is trying to enter North Carolina State to continue his studies toward an engineering degree. . . . The amateur softball association commissioners will hold their annual convention Jan. 25-28 at Biloxi, Miss., a nice place to have it soft. . . . Owner Fred Hooper and trainer Ivan Parke rate Jet Fleet a better Derby prospect at this stage than Hoop Jr., was in 1945. . . . Charley Vetter, one of Kentucky's best basketball referees, once was paid off with $7.50 worth of country sausage for working a scholastic game where the gate receipts weren't enough to pay his fee. . . . That's how he learned to meat any situation.

Tigers Meet Sooners Tonight

By Skipper Patrick

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 22—(P)—The menu is short but the gravy thick in Big Seven Conference basketball this week.

The top four teams—Kansas State, Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado—will be involved in the three game slate as mid-term examinations takes its whack at the schedule.

Kansas State, the leader at three victories and no losses, will meet the Colorado Buffaloes, a team that has lots of class but little height, at Manhattan Saturday.

Kansas, a half game off the pace with three victories and one defeat, will meet the Oklahoma Sooners, conquerors of mighty Oklahoma A. and M. at Norman, Okla., Saturday.

Missouri (1-2) and Iowa State (1-3) mix at Columbia, Mo., tonight in the only other game of the week involving Big Seven members.

Oklahoma and Colorado are tied for third and fourth places in the standings, each with 2-2 records. Coach Bruce Drake's Oklahomans, getting together by a week, knocked off the nation's number one team, Oklahoma A. and M., with a first class display of the Aggies' strongest point—ball control. The score was 44-40.

Colorado, which had won only three times in fifteen starts, upset Iowa State at Ames, Iowa, 47-42. The Buffaloes spotted Iowa State a 14-point lead, 32-18, early in the second half then came from behind to win.

Oklahoma's big problem will be of stopping Kansas' Clyde Lovellette who for the second straight year is making a runaway of the individual scoring race.

Lovellette has pumped through a total of 394 points in 13 games, a 23.4 points average. He doesn't have a challenger in the all games or leagues games only departments. He had a total of 90 points in four conference outings.

Seek Chinese Police Recruits

SINGAPORE—(P)—The Singapore Police Department is launching an island-wide campaign in this British crown colony to recruit more local-born Chinese to keep law and order in "this essentially Chinese city."

Nigel Morris, C. I. D. Chief, said "we want a proportional representation in the police force of the 700,000 Chinese in the Colony. More Chinese constables are required to patrol the Chinatown areas."

At present, there are less than 30 uniformed Chinese policemen in the 3,000-man police force.

Radiologists Bombard Each Other With New Ideas; See New World in Medicine

By Jack Harr
NEA Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO (NEA)—Dr. Richard Chamberlain of Philadelphia took a long look around the exhibition hall and said: "When you come to one of these meetings, you begin to feel like a one-eyed boy at a three-ring circus."

That is how a radiologist with 12 years of college and advanced training feels when his colleagues from all over the country gather to describe to each other the latest in their field.

Any one of the 2100 radiologists assembled at the convention in Chicago would concur with Dr. Chamberlain. Their science, vastly important not only in combatting disease, but also in controlling radiation effects in a potential atom bomb attack, has grown tremendously since the days of Madame Curie and Konrad Roentgen.

And yet, as Dr. Warren Furey, outgoing president of the Radiological Society of North America, puts it: "We're only in the kindergarten stage. We're just on the threshold of a whole new world in medicine."

According to 36-year-old Dr. Chamberlain, the convention was like going back to school—"a week-long, concentrated, intense school with dozens of new developments tossed at you."

"A radiologist," he explained, "is a combination doctor, radiology specialist, physicist, chemist, photographer and mechanic. So new trends can come from almost any quarter. If you've absorbed a fraction of it when you go home, it's been a week well spent."

A few of the developments brought up at the recent meeting will illustrate his point:

Cobalt 60: A man-made radioactive substance for internal use, it is cheaper than radium, less irritating to the patient, and easier to control.

The Westinghouse tube: It amplifies and enlarges X-ray images, making for better diagnoses.

New high-speed X-ray machine: It enables the technician to photograph a portion of the body from two angles at the same time. This was developed by Dr. Wendell Scott of St. Louis, who got the idea from observing the Fairchild aerial camera during World War II.

Treating heart disease with radioactive iodine: This was Dr. Chamberlain's paper which showed how treating the thyroid gland with radioactive iodine relieved patients suffering from angina pectoris, a heart ailment characterized by crippling pains.

Crystal dosimetry: Still in the experimental stage, this is a new type of radioactivity detector being developed by the navy.

On top of the customary deluge of new ideas, the big discussion among the doctors was about their prospective role in an atom war.

They will probably be the key men in the medical units which will treat the thousands of refugees from any atom-blasted area. Under the expanding civil defense set-up, the estimated 4000 radiologists in the United States will be ready to fight the devastating effects of their science—same science which they are now employing in a controlled, peaceful, beneficial manner.

Liberty PTA Aids March Of Dimes

The Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce was represented by Robert Wall, president and Robert Sherman at a recent Parent Teachers Association meeting at Liberty grade school. The purpose of their mission was to show the film of the Jaycees Christmas parade but after the film Sherman recalled that he had a recorded conversation with the parents of Dale Lane, 17 year old polio victim which was on the same tape.

Mr. Sherman was invited to play the recording by Mrs. Eldon De Mott, president of the Liberty P.T.A., to the group. The recording tells in Dale's own words the story of how the National Foundation came to the assistance of his family and that it has left no stone unturned in aiding to restore good health to him.

After the showing of the film the audience was so moved that it made a generous contribution to the March of Dimes which is to go into the Pettis County chapter of the March of Dimes.

The Jaycees disclosed that the colored movie with the interview with Dale's parents was available for showing at any school or organization in this area and may be obtained by sending a postcard or calling Robert Wall at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The restored edifice was highlighted by a High Mass celebrated by the Archbishop of Cebu. A fireworks display followed the Mass.

Don't Be Too Sure Draft Not Get You

This Week Congress Starts Task On Overhaul of Power

(By the World Staff of the Associated Press)

Many a young man who six months ago did not reckon on being drafted is in for a surprise. Congress this week begins to overhaul the armed forces' manpower procurement system.

When it has finished, veterans, farmers, essential workers, 4-Fs, husbands—even fathers—all may be subject to call.

The 1949 selective service act, designed to maintain an armed force of 2,167,000 at the most, is certain to be changed to provide the now planned force of 3,500,000. This an almost two-thirds increase. Plainly something will have to give.

Recommendations from many sources call for one or more of the following changes in the 1948 law:

Raise the present draft 18-year-olds.

Draft veterans with little service. Perhaps for non-combat duty.

Extend length of service from 21 months to 24, 27 or 30 months. Induct the more than 600,000 4-Fs for non-combat service.

Tighten deferment regulations, under which 600,000 now are deferred for dependency and more than 200,000 for occupation.

Lower physical and mental requirements.

There is a dim possibility the draft eventually will be scrapped in favor of universal military service (UMS).

Watch for a group of presidents of small colleges (which would be hardest hit by universal military service) to come out in favor of the two-year UMS plan backed by Harvard President James B. Conant.

Opposed to UMS are a large bloc of educators who support a plan to defer the brightest college students from service.

An advisory committee of scientists, appointed by draft director Lewis B. Hershey, said the U. S. will suffer a shortage of educated manpower unless the flow of students through colleges is maintained.

her husband Dr. Barss, left aboard the Bermuda schooner-yacht Pinta, which had been repaired here after running aground. Now back, they told of a stormy voyage in which three gales were encountered.

Legion Post No. 98 Will Remodel Home

The Clay T. Henderson American Legion Post No. 98 are making extensive plans for remodeling their Legion Home at Ohio avenue and Pettis street. The committee in charge is headed by Ernest R. Ireland as chairman.

Other members are Paul Jones, Willard Ray, E. L. Smith post adjutant and Charles L. Shepard the commander.

The committee plans on a series of dances and other entertainment to raise funds for the work. The first of the series of dances will be held at the Tiger Hall, 210½ West Main street.

Confused As To Right Hot Springs

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N. M., Jan. 20—(AP)—Joe D. Kinsey, Jr., missed a date with his father in Hot Springs, Ark., by at least a day and a third of the way across the U. S.

The young manager of a ranch at Serbring, Fla., arrived by plane last night from San Angelo, Tex. Not till he discovered he was in the former town of Hot Springs, N. M.

The airlines picked him up again this morning and started him to his date in Hot Springs, Ark., with Joe D. Kinsey, Sr.

But the incident left folks here wagging their heads. They've tried for years to keep their mail and passengers from being side-tracked to Hot Springs, Ark. Now the trend is changing just as they've got postoffice approval to change and name the town "Truth or Consequences" after the radio show.

Theatrical Changes Are Criticized

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Too many radical changes in modern theatres have been undertaken merely for the sake of change, says Edward Hearn, assistant professor in the department of theatre arts at the University of California.

Hearn states that startling changes which alter the height of the stage, and modify audience comfort cause confusion in attempts to stage a normal play. He predicts future theatres will establish a more intimate audience-stage relationship, and that they will be smaller, seating only some 800 people.
